PRESIDENT'S REMARKS

Greetings Compatriots and Friends, Many times this year, Peter Barron has told me it was almost time to take over for him. Now that he has completed his year as president we all need to formally recognize the great job he did in leading us to "The best SAR Chapter in TEXAS and in the National SAR." I may be prejudice in this statement, but he has done an outstanding job and setting mighty high standards for me to follow. Thank you for entrusting me with the privilege of being your chapter president for the coming year. We have "hit the ground running" for 2011. Our State President Jim Jones and President Elect Bill Marrs were present for the installation of this years' Officers and Executive Committee. We have participated in 35 events so far including Honoring our Veterans at the VA Hospital and participating in the largest George Washington Parade in the world in Laredo the weekend of 18-19 February. I have committed each of us to the recruitment of new members, with a goal of 40 for the year and 20 Supplements. We are well on our way to reaching these goals, we have 3 applications approved, 9 new and 10 supplements at National. Ten others are in the process of being completed. Now it's your turn. Genealogist Peter Barron is anxious to help you get your applications prepared. Compatriot Frank Rohrbough and myself are also helping. Youth and Education is central to our continual success, contacting school and local communities to encourage participation in our youth activities and awards program for essay and oral contests for ROTC and Local High School students is a primary goal. Compatriots Jay Lewallen, Bob Brady and Bud Davenport are already presenting programs to the youth in our community. Our color guard is a most visible asset, these compatriots devote considerable time to present SAR to our communities. New compatriots are always welcome. Come and join us, for fun and education, see Commander, Frank Rohrbough for how you can become involved too. He will tell you about an opportunity to serve the Veterans at the VA through its Popcorn Concession. Thank you again for the opportunity to follow in the footsteps of our great president leaders of the Past and leaders of the Present. I am humbled by this opportunity and will endeavor to do my best to keep SASAR on top.

Fraternally, James Taylor

Worth at the Sheraton Grand DFW Airport Hotel in Irving, TX on March 24-27th. The Annual Meeting is being hosted by the Dallas Chapter. The meeting kicks off with a Genealogy Seminar on Thursday from 1-4 PM. Cost is only $20 per person. Committee Meetings will be held on Friday, March 25th. In doing so, he presented him a book entitled "The Alamo Heroes and their Revolutionary Ancestors".

Chapter Holds History Fair at Little Flower Catholic School:

On February 11th, we spoke to the 5th and 8th grad students at Little Flower Catholic School about Early American History and with focus on the American Revolution. Participating in the program were Compatriots Stephen and Jay LeWallen. More specifically, Compatriot Peter Baron focused on camp life and the personal articles used by the Militia and Continental Army in the 1770's. He spoke on a variety of subjects including the uniforms of the revolution and how they changed from the early years of the militia and the establishment of a standard uniform by General Washington during the winter encampment at Valley Forge in 1778. Compatriot Frank Rohrbough spoke on the spies of General Washington during the Revolution and how the "Culper Spy Ring" gathered intelligence on the British while they occupied New York City. The highlight of the program was the firing of a replica of a 1770's British Musket in the parking lot of the school. The students were really impressed with commands given for firing the musket and how loud it sounded. They were excited to have their teacher fire the weapon.

Compatriot Baron speaks to the students about the uniforms, weapons, currency and flags of the American Revolution. Compatriot Frank Rohrbough shared the program speaking on "Washington's Spies" during the American Revolution.

AN EXCERPT ON "EVALUATION OF WEAPONS AND TACTICS IN THE BATTLE OF KINGS MOUNTAIN"

By Roland Salatino, San Antonio Chapter's Eagle Scout Award Recipient for 2010

A jewel often skimmed over or forgotten altogether in our classrooms and textbooks, the Battle of Kings Mountain in 1780 "was of mighty portent. History has done scant justice to its significance, which rightly should place it beside Lexington and Bunker Hill, Trenton, and Yorktown, as one of the crucial engagements in our long struggle for independence." The momentous defeat of the British-led and supplied Loyalist forces at the hands of a coalition of Overmountain militiamen (Patriots) had an incredible result: the battle at Kings Mountain stopped the British from gathering together all the southern colonists who still remained loyal to the crown, forming a huge army and crushing the rebellious Patriots. The rag-tag amalgam of angry Patriots snagged victory from the Loyalists thanks to two primary things: the difference in guns, and the difference in how those guns were used. A weapon, of course, is only as good as the hands that carry it and the Loyalists, trained for open-field, firing squad tactics, were poorly suited to defending an elevated, rocky, flat-topped hill. The Patriots, on the other hand, were accustomed to hunting small, fleet-footed animals for food and hiding behind trees for cover as they fought off Indian raids. The Patriots learned to fire with frightening accuracy before swiftly finding cover behind rocks and trees to reload. The Patriots lived by their rifles and knew them well. They knew, for example, that when firing upward, they had to compensate for the natural tendency to under-shoot a target; the hill-defending Loyalists had little clue as to why their .75 caliber lead balls hurtled harmlessly over the heads of the oncoming Patriots. The Loyalist bayonet charges did pose a threat, but the colonists were able to rely on their considerable skill with tomahawks to hold their ground. In the end, the Patriots' use of the American long rifle and better woodland fighting tactics allowed them to overtake the mountain and kill British Major Patrick Ferguson, setting a history-changing cornerstone in the formation of our United States.

COMPATRIOTS SHOW APPRECIATION TO VETERANS

The Veterans Affairs conducts an annual Appreciation Week each year in February to show their appreciation for the services given by millions of members who have served in the military over the years, especially those who have suffered the wounds of war. This recognition begins with a Reception in the Recreation Center where visiting Veterans Service Organizations and other military dignitaries are welcomed and asked to take handmade Valentine Cards made by Elementary School Students in area schools to veterans getting care in locations—such as wards, waiting rooms and lobbies—throughout the Medical Center. Our Chapter operates the Popcorn Concession on Fridays each week; so we wore our period uniforms and greeted veterans with a Valentine Card when they came by our Concession. Funds raised through the sell of Popcorn are turned into the Volunteers Services Office and provided to veterans who are hospitalized and are in need of personal articles such as toothpaste, toothbrushes, shaving items and hair spray. The event allowed us to pay our respect to our veterans and extend our appreciation to them for their service to our country.

SAR Goes to George Washington Parade in Laredo

SAR Chapter dual member President-General David Sympson and First Lady Evelyn led the multi-state SAR group in the 113th Annual George Washington Birthday Celebration Parade in Laredo on February 19th. The Sympson's were accompanied by other national officers including Registrar General Lindsey Brock and wife Billie traveled from Jacksonville, FL while Jack and Shelia Manning came from Boston. Other SAR members traveled from North Carolina and Arizona. Leading the large TXSSAR delegation is President Jim Jones and his First Lady Diane. The George Washington Parade has an estimated 200,000 plus parade viewer along the 3 mile route; it is now a NSSAR national event, and counts toward the Silver Color Guard Medal. This parade may be the largest event participated in by the SAR each year.

SAR and DAR Members Participate in GW Parade: Because of the strong efforts of Compatriot Tom Green and hospitality and marketing efforts of Rick Ramirez, President of the Laredo SAR Chapter, over 50 SAR Members and their spouses (many wearing period clothing) participated in this year's Parade. Following the parade, President Ramirez and his family hosted over 100 SAR guest and their ladies to a Chapter sponsored luncheon at the Holiday Inn Ballroom. Compatriot Tom Green presented the TXSSAR Bernardo de Galvez Medals and Parade Pins to all new participants in the Parade. The Bernardo de Galvez Medal was struck in 2010 specifically for SAR Color Guardsmen who participate in the Parade.
